2011 YEAR IN REVIEW

THE EMERGENCY DEPARTMENT PRACTICE MANAGEMENT ASSOCIATION

A LEADERSHIP MESSAGE

Now more than ever it is critical that all organizations working in the field of Emergency Medicine belong to, and become active with, this dynamic and vital organization.

As Chairman of the Board I seldom look backwards, so even I was surprised when reviewing the list of accomplishments EDPMA achieved over the course of 2011. Association Management Group (AMG) has proven to be a good partner for us and we have settled into a stable and mutually beneficial relationship. Our Executive Director, Linda Ayers, has enabled me and the Board to be even more productive than before. Ms. Ayers has become a steady force prodding us to aim for more influence and to accomplish even more tasks. The Board and committee chairs, who spearhead the bulk of our efforts, are hard working, forward thinking and extremely knowledgeable. It is an honor to be associated with these professionals.

As I look forward, I'm certain EDPMA will be even more influential over the next few years. EDPMA focuses primarily on the regulatory environment and it appears that there will be literally hundreds of new regulations written concerning the delivery and payment of healthcare services. We will work closely – and tirelessly – with all EM organizations both federal and state as we seek to improve the access and overall healthcare of our patients. Now more than ever it is critical that all organizations working in the field of Emergency Medicine belong to, and become active with, this dynamic and vital organization.

EDPMA MISSION STATEMENT

The mission of the Emergency Department Practice Management Association is to advocate for Emergency Department physician groups and their partners to enhance quality patient care through operational excellence and financial stability.

OVERVIEW

EDPMA is the national trade association representing Emergency Department Physician Groups, ED Billing Companies, and other organizations that support and deliver valuable ED services to more than half of the nation's 132 million emergency room patients.

EDPMA is squarely focused on advocacy, education and professional development, and providing unsurpassed membership value throughout the year. The organization brings its members together to find solutions to common industry problems. From Medicare reimbursement to patient flow, EDPMA members work collaboratively to bring real-time solutions to the emergency department.

EDPMA is governed by a volunteer Board of Directors comprised of experts in the field of emergency medicine. In the fall of 2011, EDPMA's Board of Directors reviewed EDPMA's strategic issues and the Task Forces that were responsible for those issues. As a result of this evaluation, the Board restructured its Task Forces into a focused Committee structure to better serve EDPMA's advocacy needs. The work of the Committees – further detailed in the pages of this annual report – are led by an active team of talented and entrepreneurial EDPMA members.

"EDPMA has a very unique blend of physician leaders, practice managers, coding and billing experts, and experts from supporting organizations that provide us with resources that can be deployed quickly, without a lot of red tape and with the trust among us that we have worked many of these issues together and will pursue the common good. The organizations in EDPMA compete in the business world everyday—but when we come together for our common interests and purposes we put on the "EDPMA uniform" and take off the uniform of our various companies. We get a great deal done, and we leverage many relationships disproportionate to our size and frankly our budget, and we are able to do that because of our connectivity and trust." -

ADVOCACY

EDPMA accomplishes its legislative agenda through monitoring legislation and coordinated communication and sharing of resources between EDPMA members. In the spring of 2011, EDPMA launched a state legislative tracking system that provides alerts and up to date information on current legislation. In November, EDPMA introduced a membership recruitment and awards program to help grow EDPMA and make the emergency department industry even stronger.
